No idea in your brain?
Don't worry, AI will help!
Want to make a report?
Don't worry, AI will help!
Want to write a poem?
Don't worry, AI will help!

Want to talk to someone?
Don't worry, AI will help!
Want to remove your emotions?
Don't worry, AI will help!
Want to detach yourself
from the world?
Don't worry, AI will help!

Except...AI actually won't.
Your project would lack creativity,
Just as your emotions would project objectivity,
You'd look at others with no serenity,
You'd have no chance at serendipity.

Instead, you won't be curious,
This would just be self-injurious,
And the nature would be furious!
Would you still be that oblivious?
While Mother Earth's situation is so very precarious?

Just one AI search, Is enough to make the environment lurch, Yet you're no different from those on the perch,
So you blatantly ignore the research,
Congratulations! Our planet is now besmirched!

Dear Reader, Heed my words,
In birth; we rise from the dirt,
In death; we mingle with the dirt,
That's the magic of Mother Earth!
Do not think of my warning as mirth,
For, if not heard, AI will be the cause of your dearth!
